

New Arrivals in Phipps Tailored Hats

It is with great pleasure we announce a special express shipment of Phipps hats. As usual, the Phipps people have succeeded in producing hats for the mid-season that are entirely different from the earlier models yet conform to all the requirements of Fashion. These hats are all one of a kind. Ask to see these new hats when you visit the Millinery Department tomorrow.

Sale of Imported Pattern Hats

THIS week we are holding an advance sale of Parisian models. When we say that the prices now asked for these hats just about cover the duty that was paid on them we do not exaggerate. These hats represent the very best of the Parisian makers and offering them as we do, right now at the beginning of the season, gives you an unequalled opportunity to select an exclusive Parisian pattern hat for practically nothing. As there is only a limited number of these hats left, you should investigate at the earliest possible moment just what this opportunity means to you.

Mezzanine Millinery Section Sale of Moderately Priced Hats

OUR Mezzanine Millinery Section is proving a big success. When you visit this section and see the incomparable values that we are offering you can easily understand just why this is so. For the balance of the week special offers will be made at

$1.00, $1.98, $2.98, $3.98 and $4.98

At these five prices you can find almost any kind of hat you desire, and when you do find it you will be able to purchase it at just about one-half its real value. In addition to women's hats, there is quite a good selection of misses' hats in the above lots.

ONE MEMBER OF THE ARMY BOARD I SHERE

Others Will Follow and Investigation of Claims Against Mexico Will Start Thursday.

Lieut. Aristides Moreno, of the 25th Infantry, is the first of the army claim board to arrive in El Paso. Lieut. Moreno arrived Wednesday and will be joined here by Lieut. Col. Francis J. Kernan, adjutant general, and Maj. Eli A. Hahn, inspector general. The claim board was created by act of congress by a joint resolution on August 9 and authorized the secretary of war to appoint a commission of three officers of the army to investigate each claim of American citizens or other persons within the United States for personal or property injury resulting from bullets fired by federal or rebel soldiers of Mexico during the first revolution. The army board will begin the investigation of these claims here Thursday, and later will go to Douglas and other places on the border until all of the claims have been thoroughly investigated.

LAXATIVE BROMO Quinine removes the cause. There is only one "BROMO QUININE." Look for signature of E. W. GROVE, 25c.

Place a "Skolny" made boy's suit or overcoat beside one of ordinary make. Our salesmen need not point the difference. It's too apparent. There's more of style, more of service in "Skolny" clothes at no greater cost than for ordinary garments.

TWO MILLION ARE SPENT IN NEW BUILDINGS IN EL PASO IN YEAR

Building Inspector's Estimate Places El Paso Third Among Texas Cities.

With an anticipated estimate of $2,000,000 for buildings for the year 1932, El Paso will take third place for the record of building activities in the cities of Texas, according to the report compiled by N. A. Comstock, who has charge of issuing the building permits. The figures in the report of Mr. Comstock to date total $1,859,740. While there are yet two months to be covered, it is estimated that the average established for each month covered will reach the $2,000,000 mark at the end of the year.

In the building inspector's report for the different months, February comes first with a credit of $628,390. The month of January thus far shows the lowest record, the sum being only $96,422. The valuation of the buildings for July was given at $264,045. The Masonic temple now under construction at the intersection of North El Paso and Missouri streets was included in that month for $112,000.

The report for the first few weeks in October shows that the building permits have been running largely to the bungalow style.

The Year's Activities.

The report for the months covered is as follows:

For January, 61 permits, totaling $96,422; brick dwellings, 27; apartment houses, two; one store building; garages, porches, repairs and other items. February, 55 permits; total, $628,390; 24 brick dwellings, Pao del Norte hotel, two apartment houses, Pearson mill plant, store building and garages. March, 69 permits, totaling $183,650; including 33 brick dwellings, two apartment houses, one store building and garages. April, 69 permits, totaling $192,840; including 34 brick dwellings, four apartment houses, Texas & Pacific building, one reinforced concrete store building and garages. May, 101 permits, totaling $155,800; including 41 brick dwellings, two apartment houses, one reinforced concrete warehouse. June, 73 permits, totaling $121,315; including 37 brick dwellings, two apartment houses, packing house, repairs and garages. July, 71 permits, totaling $264,045; including Masonic temple, 26 dwellings, one church, one store building, settlement house, repairs and garages. August, 82 permits, totaling $73,900; including 22 brick dwellings, two apartment houses, repairs and garages. September, 66 permits, totaling $122,870; including two moving picture theaters, one business building, and 27 brick dwellings. The total for the nine months was $1,859,740.

The El Paso report, at the request of the Texas Secretaries' association, has been sent to the association's headquarters at Fort Worth, Tex., where it will later be compiled, along with the reports from other Texas cities and published in the eastern cities.

her husband pass money to Jack Rose, Becker's alleged collector, and said Rosenthal left scarcely enough money to bury him.

Is Cross Examined.
Mrs. Rosenthal's cross examination then began.

"Was Rose a partner with your husband in the gambling business?" asked Mr. McIntyre.

"Yes, until early in March or the last of February."

Questions as to Rosenthal's relations with Rose, Becker and others were stopped by Justice Goff.

"Were you at a meeting between your husband and Harry Vallon a month before your husband's death, when your husband refused to shake hands with Vallon?" asked Mr. McIntyre.

Justice Goff excluded the question. "Did you know of a plot to assault your husband, planned when Rose, Becker, Schepps and Sam Paul were present?"

Mr. Whitman objected to the question, which was sustained by the court and Mr. McIntyre excused the witness.

Chauffeur Testifies.
Otto A. Avers, chauffeur for Lieut. Col. Sternberger, of the 22d regiment, N. Y. 10th, testified to having driven Becker in his car to Madison Square Garden on the night of July 15, the night before the murder, here they met Jack Sullivan and Becker got out. Later Becker reentered the car with Sullivan and another man whom the witness did not know. This man was carried to a subway station after which Becker and Sullivan were driven to a newspaper office.

"Becker got out and went into the office," continued the witness. "I stayed 30 minutes and then Sullivan, Becker and myself went to Forty-second street and Sixth Avenue way, was about 1:30 in the morning of July 15. We dropped Sullivan there and I drove Becker home."

Defence Accuses Gamblers.
Gamblers and not police lieutenant Charles Becker instigated the murder of Herman Rosenthal, according to the line of defence indicated by counsel for the accused officer.

A large sum of money raised by gamblers was paid to get Rosenthal out of New York when he began to "squall." When he took the money and refused to go, the gamblers plotted and executed his murder.

Such was the outline of the defence implied in questions by John F. McIntyre, Becker's counsel, to Sam Schepps on the witness stand.

The witness spent practically the entire day Tuesday on the stand corroborating the testimony of Jack Rose, Bridget Webber and Harry Vallon, the trio of confessed accomplices who accused Becker of instigating the murder.

Schepps swore Becker had asked him if the gun had been paid. He also testified that he had been the bearer of a reassuring message from Becker to Jack Rose when the latter was in hiding at the home of Harry Pook.

Where the business men had gathered in response to circulars announcing the coming of the El Pasoans, R. W. Smith acted as chairman and introduced Dr. C. C. Rieckman, who extended a welcome to the El Pasoans. Eugene Harris, seconded and presented the key to El Paso.

H. D. Slater spoke upon the objects of the trade excursion and corrected a Gila valley apprehension that El Paso is opposed to the ocean to ocean highway through this valley. W. W. Pace spoke for the valley people and the keynote quartet sang several selections. Parvin White sang two solos, one with band accompaniment. The El Pasoans' band had by this time arrived from its concert in the square.

Deeds of the Night.
The hall was then cleared for action and the El Pasoans and the Safford people danced till midnight. John J. Birdo, ex-state Democratic chairman, was prominent in the entertainment of the El Pasoans. Mr. Birdo is an active booster always for the Gila valley.

Going Westward Now.
This afternoon the El Pasoans have gone to visit Bowie, Wilcox, Cochise and Pearce before they are through with a strenuous day's experience. They will sleep tonight at Kelton Junction and be ready to make an early run into Courtland tomorrow morning, then to Douglas and Bisbee.

Notes of the Trip.
The excursionists are particularly pleased with the dining car service on the special train. The Southern Pacific has furnished a dinner for the entire trip and conductor F. A. Doneken is in charge with a polite and capable force of waiters. Between meals the excursionists can get sandwiches and drinks, and at meals they are able to get quick service.

Will Crombie has a lot of big placards, the size of a bunch of bananas, cut to represent the boys and girls (little) girls in the different towns visited.

Eugene Harris has developed the habit of buying candy for the boys and girls in the different towns visited.

Long distance telephone connection with El Paso is one of the treats enjoyed by the excursionists where stops are made long enough. C. E. Stratton, district manager for the Tri-State and Mountain States Telephone company, is on board with a telephone connection in one of the cars and wherever the train makes a stop of sufficient time, he gets connection with El Paso for the excursionists. Harry Potter has dubbed Mr. Stratton "Wrong Number" Stratton and in turn Stratton calls him "Wrong Potter."

The artesian well-flowing—at San Simon, Ariz., made a big hit with the El Pasoans. Although artesian water goes away with the use of pumps, even Bob Krakauer was pleased with it. Bob says water is good for filling the tanks of Pullman cars and things like that and he likes to see plenty of it in the desert.

Paso Herald are distributed at every stop and H. H. Preis is busy distributing small tags to the boys and girls among the people of the different towns.

V. R. Stiles is distributing what looks much like 29 dollar gold pieces among the people at the depots. They are advertising rubberoid roofing.

Mr. Stiles is also distributing a band leader, is distributing silver thimbles advertising (Globe flour and El Paso).

Don Keeble, the sage of Lordsburg, was glad to meet his old time friend, W. T. Hixson, because Mr. Hixson is one of the few taxi men in El Paso. The don being a postmaster, is going to vote for Taft.

R. K. Minor, traffic manager of the Arizona-New Mexico railroad, made a friend of every member of the trade excursion by the very courteous manner in which he looked after them while they were on his road and in the Clifton-Moreland district. General manager Thomson, of the Detroit Copper company, and general manager Carmichael, of the Arizona company, were also extremely courteous.

C. M. Murphy, trainmaster of the Southern Pacific, told the excursionists that he could handle trains on time
